

The Californians Will Tackle Yale While Domino Goes to the Barn.

THE MEMORY OF DAYS OVER OLD SPOT

The April Shoot and the June Races—The Palatins How-Down at El Paso—The Red, Dog, Gun and Horse.

LAST Yale has been commended to recognize the California athletes, and a healthy, worthy crowd they are. Old El has challenged the doughy lads of Berkeley to a meet at the end of the month, the elder path when the latter go east next May. Yale has always snubbed the western contingent, but when she is having her own athletic latitude circumscribed by her eastern rivals she drops from her superior rank and asks for a contest with the boys of the Pacific.

There is but little doubt but what the Californians will comply with the request, as they have always been eager to again meet the champions of the East. They recognize that Yale has a stronger team than ever this year, but it will not influence them, and it is a foregone conclusion that they will be in on the interstate championship which is always given for at Mott Haven. It looks pretty much as if Yale was seeking this contest because she has no worthy rivals in the east and the fact that the game is small and Yale will walk on this. The Tigers would stand no sort of a chance with the New Haven giants—Sheldon, Hickok, Cady and Rieckman—and in the Pacific they turn to the west for their competition. They are confident that Berkeley can hold her own with the best in the Yale pack. They claim that Torrey, their hurdler, is better than any other hurdler in the country, and that they can now put the hammer out of the reach of any of their opponents. The latter is a marvel and he breaks records with the same prodigality that a bull in a china shop breaks crockery, and it is a well known fact that Hickok looks well equipped upon the achievements of the California freshman.

The international chess tourney at St. Petersburg is history, and for once Yankee Doodle was forced into a back seat. Emanuel Lasker, the German champion, was a comparatively easy winner. He was heavily backed on the other side and the result shows that there was reason for the faith there was within them. The plea that the American was in good form, is the same old chestnut cracked invariably by the defeated. That he was not in form is evidenced by the score, still, however, a master of the game, and there is nothing surprising in the termination of the meet. We all know that he is a wonderful player, but he also knew that he was not in form.

The Omaha Driving club has already begun its preparations for the big meet of the light harness race, which will open on the 9th and close on the 13th. Scott McCoy, the well known trainer and driver, is in the quadrangle meet just closed at St. Petersburg he was third and Techigron was first.
